Dallas, London, Sydney – PM World has announced that it has added access to some of the leading business and management magazines in the world, published in Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the UK and the USA, to the PM World Library. Full text in PDF and HTML of articles and papers published in the Harvard Business Review (HBR) since 1922 are included.

Other well-known international publications now available through the library include African Business, California Management Review, Canadian Business, Canadian Manager, China Business Review, Fast Company, Forbes, Fortune, India Business Journal, McKinsey Quarterly, New Zealand Management, PM Network, Professional Manager and many others. Many include full text of all contents, including archives and current editions. Access is available at <http://pmworldlibrary.net/ppm-journals-and-magazines/>.

Access to management magazines, and to a wide variety of academic journals, industry publications and popular magazines, is available with the new PMWL Scholar memberships, and to those signing up for the 10-day Free Trial memberships. The new service is based on PMWL member access to EBSCO databases announced in May 2015.

According to David Pells, managing director of the PM World Library, “As strategic planning, leadership and context have emerged as important aspects of program/project management, more knowledge in general management and business topics is becoming more relevant. Access to more international management publications should be useful to all project executives, managers and professionals.”

“If you or others on your team are subscribing to one or more of these publications, that’s no longer necessary,” Pells adds. “You can access all of these major management resources as a library member for a fraction of the cost. For many, access will be free.”

The PM World Library (PMWL) is a global resource for continuous learning in portfolio, program and project management (P/PM). The PMWL is produced and maintained by PM World which also publishes the monthly PM World Journal (PMWJ), a web-based publication featuring dozens of articles, papers and stories about projects and project management around the world.
