Marina Plećaš in Croatia completes research internship for PM World Library

Recent master's level graduate from the University of Zagreb completes research internship for PM World Library

27 November 2016 – Dallas, TX, USA and Zagreb, Croatia – PM World has announced that Ms Marina Plećaš has completed her project management research internship for the PM World Library (PMWL). Marina began her internship in late February and completed the program on 31 October 2016. See her intern profile and research results at <http://pmworldjournal.net/university-interns/marina-plecas/>.

Marina Plećaš has recently received her Master's degree in Building Information Modeling (BIM) at the Faculty of Civil Engineering (University of Zagreb) in Zagreb, Croatia. Her major fields of study were BIM, project management and risk management. Marina also holds a Bachelor's of Science degree in Risk Management in Construction Projects. She is a member of IPMA Young Crew and Croatian Association for Construction Management.

The PMWL project management research program offers project management students the opportunity to conduct research and identify new resources for the library in exchange for recognition, visibility, five years of free access to the library, and introductions to others around the world. According to David Pells, PMWL managing director, “Marina was an outstanding research intern. Based on her graduate studies, she identified and provided resources for the library related to building information modeling, known as BIM, including guides, templates and other information. BIM is one of the newest technologies with tremendous implications for projects and project management in the architecture, engineering and construction industries. ”

Marina stated, “I found the internship experience with PM World Library very useful, and it was fun to provide information and resources related to BIM, one of my major subjects in graduate school. I was also happy to complete the program, since I have now graduated and started working full time.”

Pells added, “Ms. Plećaš came to us through Professor Mladen Vukomanović at the University of Zagreb. Dr. Vukomanović leads the BIM program at the university, is actively involved with project management and local IPMA activities, and has become a strong supporter of the PM World Library.”

In addition to visibility and credit for their contributions, interns receive a Certificate of Completion and Letter of Recommendation on successful completion.
