Federico Minelle appointed PMWJ Honorary Industry Advisor in Italy

Respected Italian industry and publishing icon joins honorary advisory team for PM World Journal and Library

26 February 2025 – Dallas, TX, USA and Rome, Italy – PM World has announced the appointment of Mr. Federico Minelle as an honorary industry advisor for the PM World Journal (PMWJ) and PM World Library (PMWL). Mr. Minelle is a widely respected industry expert, government advisor and former managing Editor and Scientific director of the popular Il Project Manager, the leading Italian language project management magazine.

Federico Minelle graduated in Physics from “Sapienza” - Rome University, where his master’s degree thesis was based on an Artificial Intelligence (AI) research project. He immediately joined the Operations Research group in Olivetti & Co, Ivrea, Italy, mostly involved with manufacturing processes optimization. Afterwards, for more than 40 years he consulted in Business Organization, Information Systems and Project Management.

Previously as partner of Accenture and then as senior partner of Italian consultancy firm PRS - Planning, Ricerche e Studi, he managed and monitored significant projects in several industries, mainly in Engineering & Construction (manufacturing and nuclear power plants, transportation infrastructures), Government (digital innovation and process reengineering), Publishing (newspapers & magazines).

Recently retired, he taught for more than 20 years Business Information Systems in the Computer Science Dept. of “Sapienza” - Rome University, where he taught Project Management & Systems Implementation for the academic post-graduate program in ICT Governance and Audit. At the same time, he taught similar topics to Government officers attending SNA (National Public Administration School) courses. In the late '70 he was co-founder of AICE (Italian Association for Economic Engineering), member of ICEC (International Cost Engineering Council).

According to PMWJ editor David Pells, “I met Federico Minelle eight or ten years ago when we began to cooperate with the popular “il Project Manager” magazine, for which he was editorial manager. Since then, I have come to highly respect his opinions and advice, and his support of our alliance with the Italian Project Management Association ISIPM. He is extremely knowledgeable about leading Italian industries, national government programs and, especially, ICT trends and developments, including PMOs and AI.”

Mr. Minelle stated, “I am honored to be appointed and join the Honorary Industry Advisor team! It has been my pleasure to communicate with you over the years, and a delight to see the PM World Journal and Library grow in both content and reputation. They have become quite popular here in Italy. I will be happy to continue contributing as may be helpful.”

Pells added, "I think Federico has more influence among Italian industry leaders than he likes to admit. With his history with leading consultancies, various professional bodies and Sapienza University, he can quickly take the pulse of various sectors regarding project management trends and developments. He has been an invaluable editorial advisor; now perhaps he can share more of his industry perspective as well."

PM World engages with academic, industry and professional leaders in various countries to support the organization's dual missions of advancing knowledge sharing and continuous learning related to modern program and project management.
