

A warm welcome to the PMSA team!

The Chairman of the PMSA Board of Directors, Mr Sinaye Mgolombane, is pleased to announce the appointment of the new board members of Project Management South Africa. The appointment underpins the Chairman's unwavering commitment to ensuring that PMSA is led by highly qualified individuals with the expertise necessary to drive efficiency, accountability, and transparency.

Recognising the pivotal role that PMSA plays in advancing the project management development in Africa, Chairman has prioritised the swift appointment of the board members that meets stringent professional and academic criteria.

PMSA is a critical institution requiring the highest expertise and ethical leadership. The qualification standards for board appointments have been significantly raised to achieve this.

The newly appointed members meet the stringent qualification requirements and embody a diverse and representative leadership team dedicated to transforming project management profession in Africa.

The newly appointed PMSA Board members are:

Nkateko Mabaso

Nkateko is the results-driven professional with a comprehensive background in ethical governance, risk management, internal audit, compliance, and regulatory affairs. Leveraging over two decades of experience in these critical domains, she has consistently demonstrated the ability to safeguard organizational integrity, enhance compliance, and optimize risk mitigation strategies. As a Certified Ethics Officer, she possesses a deep understanding of ethical principles and their practical application within organizations. Her dedication to upholding the highest ethical standards has enabled her to design, implement, and oversee robust ethics programs that promote integrity, transparency, and accountability throughout the organization. Her leadership in this capacity has resulted in a culture of ethical excellence, reducing the risk of unethical behaviour and fostering stakeholder trust.

Arnold Russel Okkenburg

Arnold is an accomplished Information Technology Professional in the Financial Services and Retail industries with more three decades of experience. His experience lies within Delivery Management, Programme & Project Management, Agile Software Development Project Management, Infrastructure Management and rollouts, and production implementations.