Seneca Buffalo Creek Casino

$130 million dollar project comes to an end

Reported by Alexander Ehms in Buffalo

14 January 2016 – Buffalo, NY, USA – What started as a temporary slots-only casino is now an impressive $130 million dollar facility complete with Craps, Blackjack, Roulette, Three Card Poker and much more. Located in downtown Buffalo at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Perry Street the Seneca Buffalo Creek Casino is a local favorite. Started in 2007, this facility attracts more than 3 million guests each year and has created 500 jobs as a result of its success.

“The economic turnaround of Buffalo is something that many people didn’t think would happen, but look around – it’s happening,” said Seneca Nation President Maurice A. John Sr.

With a new interest and revitalization of the downtown Buffalo area, the Seneca Nation intends to embark on another expansion project. The project was approved this past August 2015 and is estimated to finish work by 2017. An ambitious goal that will ultimately add more than 1,100 slot machines and about 30 table games, while creating 300 new casino jobs. The project will also expand both restaurant and retail space within the facility.

“Seneca Buffalo Creek Casino’s $40 million expansion project is another indication of the strength of Buffalo’s prospering economy,” said Buffalo Mayor Byron W. Brown. “Buffalo’s landscape is changing before our eyes.”

With the redevelopment of the Fairmont Creamery building on Scott Street by Carl and Bill Paladino, the expansion of First Amherst Development’s Elk Terminal Lofts with 23 more units, and the rise of Canal side, Buffalo is certainly on the upswing.
