

Wideman PM Website updates announced for October 2019

PM EDUCATION NEWS

1 October 2019 – Ontario, Canada – Max Wideman has announced updates to his popular and educational project management website, www.maxwideman.com. According to Max:

Guests: The Mysterious S-curve, 4th Edition Part 4 by David Garland. Here David explains, why you should use S-curves, S-curve analysis, and how to generate the required curves. He concludes with explaining the value and benefits of tracking S-curves for reporting project progress through to destination.

Musings: An awful lot of time is wasted in meetings, right? Author David DiSilvo provides ten reasons why many meetings are so boring and ineffective and offers ways for Making Meetings More Effective.

Project management tip of the month — The Estimating Duration principle:

If you wait until the last minute to do something, it will take only a few minutes to do. (A corollary of Parkinson's Law).

If you are looking for answers, guidelines or templates, check out Max's Issacons - "Issues and Considerations" - that are presented in bullet form for quick and easy reference by project managers.

Have you seen Max's book A Management Framework for Project, Program and Portfolio Integration? For information or to order a copy, visit http://www.maxwideman.com/papers/framework\_book/intro.htm. Do you have a project management question? Find the answer at: <http://www.maxwideman.com>.

Max Wideman is one of the world's best-known project management authorities. An engineer and professional project manager, his experience includes systems, social and environmental projects, as well as design and engineering projects. He is a Fellow of the Project Management Institute, of which he is past president and chairman and for which he led the development of the 1987 version of the Project Management Body of Knowledge. He is also a Fellow of the Institution of Civil Engineers (UK), the Engineering Institute of Canada, and the Canadian Society of Civil Engineering.

His personal web site at <http://www.maxwideman.com> is a source of superior project management knowledge and information. It is free to the public.