The new additions bring the total in the PM World Collection to 3,585 original works by 1,573 different authors in 70+ countries. According to PMWL Director David Pells, “As the Covid-19 Pandemic continues to ravage the world, one affect seems to be more researchers and professionals authoring articles and papers. That is reflected in this edition, full of many original works again. We’re grateful that more project management educators, researchers and professionals are sharing their work through the PMWJ.”

New authors this month include Henry Agu (Nigeria), Jailane Atef Amer (Egypt), Adriana Cibelli (Argentina), Dharma Mehta (USA), Mike Miers (USA), Ahmed Abdullahi Sheikh (Somaliland), Xiaojin Wang (China) and Steven Haywood (USA). New works from 26 authors already included in the library were also added.

“Please read some of the outstanding featured papers this month, especially the one by Prof Xiaojin Wang at Yunnan University in China,” Pells adds. “The series articles are all on important topics by recognized experts. The advisory articles are interesting and useful, and the reports are both interesting and entertaining. Happy to include reports by two new correspondents; the second editions, book reviews, interview and four letters to the editor in response to my June editorial on Black Elephants all add value to the PM World Collection.”
