

Publishing News

Achieving Successful and Sustainable Project Delivery in Africa

New book should help project managers, organizations and government leaders implement critical projects more successfully

25 July 2020 – Dallas, TX, USA – An important new book has been published related to managing projects in Africa. Titled “Achieving Successful and Sustainable Project Delivery in Africa: How to Implement Effective and Efficient Project Management Practices and Policies” and published by the heavy weight publisher Routledge, the book is by Dr. O. Chima Okereke. Dr. Okereke is an editorial advisor and frequent contributor to the PM World Journal.

According to the publisher’s introduction: This book by a multidisciplinary project management consultant, contributes to the body of knowledge that each African country can attain and sustain economic development by suggesting how to eliminate and correct most causes of failures of projects in construction, water treatment, electricity and renewable energy. It suggests that they should also be able to obtain the sustainable harvesting of the benefits of project deliverables which have been planned for in order to implement the various aspects of their economic development.

The suggestions in this book will make a difference in project delivery and are comprehensive enough to create a root-and-branch change which will affect the people involved in making decision on projects and their delivery. Thus, project management teams and their managers, organization decision makers, companies looking to invest in the region, and politicians who plan the economy have to understand the causes of unhelpful practices and what needs to be done in order to produce productive and effective delivery of long-term sustainable project.

To learn more about the book, go to <https://www.routledge.com/Achieving-Successful-and-Sustainable-Project-Delivery-in-Africa-How-to/Okereke/p/book/9780367437626>

Chima Okereke, PhD is a visiting professor, an industrial educator, a multidisciplinary project management professional and specialist in industrial automation, with over 25 years’ experience in oil and gas, steel and power generation industries. His company was the first and only Primavera Authorised Representatives (PAR) in West Africa from 2003 to 2009. By 2019, it was a Gold-level member of the Oracle Partner Network, and also a partner of Microsoft, IBM and SAP. He is an international editorial advisor for the PM World Journal and PM

World Library having written over thirty published papers for the journal. He lives and works from his office in the UK and could be contacted at OkerekeOC@gmail.com, or chima.okereke@totaltechnologyconsultants.com. To view works by Dr. Okereke, visit his author showcase in the PM World Library at <https://peworldlibrary.net/authors/dr-o-chima-okereke/>.

Routledge is one of the world's leading academic publishers in the Humanities and Social Sciences. Routledge publishes thousands of books and journals each year, serving scholars, instructors, and professional communities worldwide. Routledge is a member of Taylor & Francis Group, an informa business. To see Routledge catalogues and titles, go to <https://www.routledge.com/>. To see their project management titles, click here.