Prof Bill Moylan appointed Honorary Academic Advisor

Professor Emeritus of construction management at Eastern Michigan University joins global advisory team for PM World Journal and Library

26 May 2021 – Ypsilanti, MI and Dallas, TX, USA – PM World has announced the appointment of William Moylan, PhD as an honorary academic advisor for the PM World Journal (PMWJ) and PM World Library (PMWL). Dr. William A. Moylan, PhD, PMP, FESD, DTM, Professor Emeritus, is a retired Associate Professor of Eastern Michigan University's College of Engineering & Technology, where he taught Construction Management for 18 years.

Dr. Moylan has extensive professional experience in all aspects of program and project management, including over eleven years internationally with the Arabian American Oil Company. Overall, he has worked on construction and facility design projects within the sectors of commercial, industrial, heavy construction, infrastructure, and residential development for facility clients in oil & gas production, petroleum & refining, chemical processing, energy, academic, federal government, municipal, public service, non-government organization, automotive, and manufacturing industries.

He continues to consult major industrial and public sector clients on developing and implementing project management within their organizations. He also presents short courses and professional training seminars in basic and applied project management and PM software applications. He engages in public speaking and occasionally provides expert testimony on construction management and construction / industrial safety topics.

In June 2005, Dr. Moylan completed his PhD. in Organization & Management with specialization in Leadership from the Capella University School of Business & Technology. His dissertation research was on values-based leadership concepts, values and skills, and its application to building ethical partnerships in the construction industry. Dr. Moylan received his BS in Construction Engineering from Lawrence Technological University in 1974, and, his Masters degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1980, majoring in Project Management and minoring in International Business. He is a Certified Project Management Professional (PMP) through the Project Management Institute (PMI). Dr. Moylan remains active in a variety of professional societies and civic activities, including ASCE, ESD, PMI, Toastmasters International and Habitat for Humanity.

According to PMWJ editor David Pells, “We are honored to welcome Bill Moylan to our academic advisory team. I’ve known Dr. Moylan for a number of years, both personally and by reputation. We’ve published a number of his research papers over the years. I am especially interested in his research and writings on ethics in construction management, such an important global topic. He brings great subject matter expertise and perspective to our editorial team.”

Bill Moylan stated, “I am happy to join the group of globally-recognized academic leaders in the project management field that PM World has assembled. I look forward to contributing to the PM World Journal, an important and useful publication for project management practitioners. I also appreciate having another vehicle for promoting ethical construction and project management.”

PM World engages with professional and academic leaders in various countries to support the organization’s dual missions of advancing knowledge sharing and continuous learning related to modern program and project management.
