Antonio Bassi appointed PM World Correspondent in Southern Switzerland

Active professional leader in Switzerland's Ticino Canton joins International Correspondents Team for PM Word Journal & Library

27 July 2021 – Dallas, TX, USA and Lugano, Switzerland – PM World has announced the appointment of Antonio Bassi as an International Correspondent for the PM World Journal (PMWJ) in Italy. Alessandro is an experienced project manager, teacher and professional leader with more than 30 years of experience in the government, technology and other sectors, primarily in Italy.

Antonio Bassi, graduate in Electronic Engineering from Politecnico di Milano, has been a Project Manager since 2000. He has been a lecturer in project management at Continuing Education and Engineering, Project manager certifier for TUV, and Head of Continuing Education at SUPSI (University of Applied Science and Arts of Southern Switzerland) Dti (Department of Innovative Technologies). He is author of several books on Project Management and of articles for the magazine 'Leadership & Management'.

Currently president of the Project Management Association of Ticino (CH), he is a certified PMP (Project Management Professional) by PMI (Project Management Institute). He was previously a member of the steering committee for the Northern Italy chapter of PMI in Milano, the largest PMI chapter in Italy. He is now enabling the development of the Project Management culture in the Swiss Canton of Ticino (CH).

Antonio took part in the development of the ISO 21500 family of standards and has been Project Manager for the development of the Italian standard UNI 11648 for the qualification of Project Managers in the Italian Public Administration. He is also a former teacher of Project Management for SNA (National School of Administration) in Italy. He edited the Italian translation of the Hermes methodology developed by the Public Administration of the Swiss Confederation. He took part in the verification of the Italian translation of the PMI PMBOK for the III and IV editions and in the verification of the translations of PMP certification exam questions. He is a developer of Knowledge Management projects as research activity in universities and manager of webinars, conferences and forums for the development of knowledge management and project management.

According to PMWJ editor David Pells, "We are delighted to welcome Antonio to our correspondents' team. He is a very experienced professional leader with connections to PMI, ISIPM and other professional bodies in Europe. Antonio was referred to us by Massimo Pirozzi who has worked with Antonio and realized that he could be a great contact for us in southern Switzerland."

Antonio stated, "It is an honour for me to collaborate with you. I thank you and Massimo for the opportunity. I look forward to representing the PM World Journal here in Ticino, the Italian speaking part of Switzerland. Interest in project management is growing here, so the journal and library could be very useful for us."

According to Massimo Pirozzi in Rome, "Antonio Bassi is a senior in Project Management, and, although he was born in Italy, he has been based in Italian Switzerland for several years. He is presently the President of APM Ticino (i.e. the Association of Project Management of Italian Switzerland) and he is a pillar of SUPSI Swiss University which is very active in Project Management. I think he could be an active correspondent for the PMWJ in Switzerland."

PM World correspondents are located in various countries, reporting news about local and regional projects and project management organizations, events and developments. To see current correspondents and to follow their work, visit <https://pmworldlibrary.net/international-correspondents/>
