Wideman PM Website updates announced for February 2022

1 February 2022 – Ontario, Canada – Max Wideman has announced updates to his popular project management website, www.maxwideman.com. According to Max (pictured), this month we've added the following:

Guests: Gianluca di Castri describes how he was involved in the Planning, Scheduling and Controlling of Long Term Projects such as the Stretto di Messina bridge across the Strait of Messina in Sicily. Based on this experience he explains how and why the planning and scheduling of long-term projects cannot be performed with the usual methods and tools we use for "normal" projects.

Musings: Jason at method123.com offers Five Tips for setting Project Priorities, especially in technology, when there are more project requests than the available staff can handle, and the project manager is left to resolve the conflicts.

Project management tip of the month

The have the-best-of-everything principle:
Make the best of everything that you have.
