News Snippets

❖ We celebrate our first anniversary!

We are thankful to celebrate our first anniversary. It is a great feeling that what we do is appreciated. We would like to thank everyone who has supported us along the way so far. All the volunteers who contribute in their spare time to keep pushing the PMOGA India Hub forward, and all the other people who gave us input and feedback or supported us in other ways.

❖ PMOGA India Hub writing competition: Winning article

The article of our writing competition winner Kiran Kumar Sadi has been published. The topic of the blog article is: PMO in strategy implementation and benefits realization.

“A multinational IT service provider faces a challenge in implementing a new customised software solution for one of its largest clients. The implementation will also involve the integration of external systems to achieve the business objectives. In addition, the programme will be an integral part of the company's value chain and is critical to the client's competitive advantage. Therefore, the associated risks are high on the part of both the IT service provider and the client.”

How can a PMO be of support in this undertaken? Find out here:

❖ The PMO Leader and PMOGA India Hub became partner

We are happy to announce the official partnership of PMOGA India Hub and The PMO Leader! Both communities share a common goal, and the partnership will bring great value in knowledge sharing and cultivating best practices to make projects, programs, and portfolios more effective and have a strategic impact. We are sure that this collaboration will bring a great breakthrough in supporting and promoting the PMO and project management community in India and worldwide.

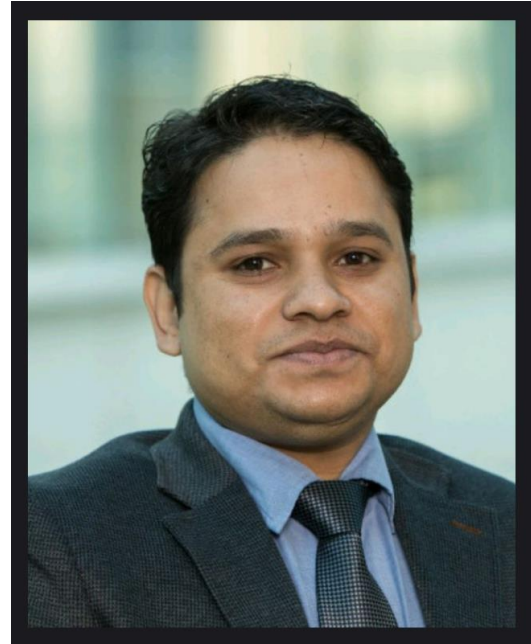

We look forward to our future together!
