PMI Madrid celebrated "The Social Impact Projects Day"

The PMI Madrid Chapter held its event on social impact projects. This day aims to be the reference meeting point between third sector entities and professional project management volunteers in Spain.

In this event, PMI volunteers have transmitted good practices in project management in the social field, specifically to civil associations, NGOs and foundations in charge of their planning, execution and monitoring, to give visibility to the projects and try to accelerate the achievement of results, in addition to improving the positive impact on society.

This event brought together the main social organizations to share experiences, present success stories and present data that provide knowledge of the evolution and performance of the region ONLINE.

How did they do it?

Project Management experts from the five PMI Chapters in Spain shared project management best practices that are applied internationally.

Who was in the audience?

- The general public interested in managing social projects
- Entities related with social development:
  - Governance Ministry
  - Government entities
  - Social organizations
  - Civil associations
  - Non profit organizations
  - Private forms – Corporate social responsibility
  - Universities
  - Educational institutions

Professionals linked to the design, development and management of social impact projects and all types of professionals dedicated to providing support services to society and social development.

It is truly gratifying to see the effort that the PMI Chapters of our country are making for social impact projects. From here our congratulations to all those involved in this initiative.

TODAY IS A GOOD DAY and TOMORROW WILL BE BETTER!
