Free PM World Library Membership for residents of India

Free access to online global resource related to program and project management for those living and working in India

15 April 2023 – Dallas, TX, USA and New Delhi, India – PM World has announced that residents of India can register for FREE ACCESS to the PM World Library (PMWL) at www.peworldlibrary.net. The PMWL is a global resource for continuous learning related to program, project and portfolio management.

According to PM World Library Director David Pells (pictured at right), “We offer free library access to those in many low-income countries, including India. I thought it might be a good time to remind our readers in India to sign up for free and to tell their colleagues.”

Those working or living in India can register for FREE BASIC ACCESS to the PMWL at <http://pmworldlibrary.net/who-gets-free-basic-access/>. Follow the instructions for residents of low-income countries. If any problems are encountered, contact editor@peworld.net.

“We recognize that PM professionals are some of the more successful and better paid workers in the country,” Pells adds. “But we established this policy years ago, based on World Bank country measures. India is a huge and important country; why not encourage everyone to learn more about program and project management. We felt the PMWL is a good resource and we’re sending an important message – share more knowledge and stop worrying about money.”

Others offered free access to the PMWL include students, professors and residents of around 80 countries listed as low-income by the World Bank. (See the list of countries for Free Access at <http://pmworldlibrary.net/free-basic-access/>.) For most there is a small membership fee, about the cost of a cup of coffee in most countries.

The PM World Library (PMWL) is a global resource for continuous learning in portfolio, program and project management (P/PM). The PMWL is produced and maintained by PM World which (since 2012) also publishes the PM World Journal (PMWJ), a web-based monthly publication featuring dozens of articles, papers and news stories about projects and project management around the world.
