According to David Pells, PM World Managing Director and PMWJ Editor, “We have established media partnerships and alliance agreements with other organizations around the world. Since both the journal and library have grown enough to provide more value for PM professionals, I thought it was past time to offer these resources to our local PMI chapter. We would also love to publish more works by PMI members going forward.”

According to Natalia Fisher, PMID president, “The PM World Journal has been the sponsor of our popular book review program for many years, and our partner along with the University of Texas at Dallas for the annual UTD PM Symposium. Since David Pells is a former PMI Dallas chapter president and a PMI Fellow, the relationship is already strong. We are simply taking it to a higher level this year to provide additional benefits to our members.”
