SARATOGA SPRINGS – Tim Jaques, the Founder and CEO of Saratoga Springs-based innovation and consulting company Teaming Worldwide, has been elected to the position of President of the International Project Management Association (IPMA)'s Member Association for the United States (IPMA-USA), an industry group that provides professional development opportunities for its membership of project management professionals. In this capacity, he will lead the national chapter by liaising with industry experts, developing new member programming, advancing the association's new standards and practices, and representing the United States at the global Council of Delegates.

Mr. Jaques, who most recently served as Acting President of the Member Association for the United States for the international association, is also the current General Chair of IPMA's 12th Annual IPMA Global Research Conference, "Project Management in the Age of Artificial Intelligence," taking place April 19-21, 2024 at the University of Maryland, a preeminent public research institution.

"I am thrilled to be elected by my esteemed peers and colleagues to the position of President of IPMA-USA," said Mr. Jaques. "The future of project management is so promising, particularly with advancements in technology taking our field by storm. I am excited to champion collaboration, innovation, and professional growth amongst our diverse membership."

“Mr. Jaques brings a wealth of incredible experience to this role, along with the perfect mix of enthusiasm, professionalism, and tenacity necessary to take our association to the next level,” said Michael Pace, PhD, Past President of IPMA-USA.

Mr. Jaques is the Founder and CEO of Teaming Worldwide, a global innovation and strategy consulting firm headquartered in Saratoga Springs, NY. Teaming Worldwide is the exclusive provider of Intentional Innovation, an enterprise-scale innovation platform that drives growth and faster time-to-market for organizations.

An expert and thought leader in project management and innovation, Mr. Jaques is a prolific author on topics including workplace creativity, the application of Intentional Innovation, creating global change, and building high performance teams. He also frequently serves as a guest speaker in venues ranging from international conferences to podcasts where he shares valuable insights and lessons learned from the intersection of innovation and project management.

A proud supporter of initiatives that promote and enhance the economic vitality of the Capital-Saratoga Region, Mr. Jaques is a board member of The Innovation Center at Saratoga and a former treasurer and board member of the Universal Preservation Hall in Saratoga Springs.
