Editeca collaborates with AEDIP (Asociación de Dirección Integrada de Proyectos)

Editeca has joined the collaborators program of the Spanish Association of Integrated Project Management (AEDIP) in order to promote Project Management in Architecture and Engineering through dissemination with articles, events, courses and online master's degrees. AEDIP represents the consulting and engineering companies most committed to the promotion of Integrated Project & Construction Management in Spain and contributes to the improvement of the quality of the company's services for their membership and collaborators through industry events, best practices sharing and coaching through specialized training courses.

In the opinion of Rafael González del Castillo Sancho, Epitheca CEO and founder, "It is vital that the AECO sector applies this discipline to generate more agile, cost- and time-efficient construction projects with good organization." "It is strategic for AEDIP to promote training in Integrated Project Management. Editeca is the answer to the need to innovate in continuous training in the AECO sector and we are very happy that they have expanded their training offer to Construction Project Management" says José Gil, general secretary of AEDIP.

The PMI Madrid Chapter continues promoting some Project management activities for their membership

The Board of Directors of the Madrid Chapter continues to hold its monthly meetings trying to seek presentations and sharing of real and dynamic experiences among its members. The participation and submission of papers for each monthly meeting has been growing and generating expectation in the attendees. On the other hand, these meetings are a great opportunity for networking between partners. The Microsoft company continues to lend its facilities for the realization of these monthly meetings.

At the next meeting of the chapter, which will take place on March 21, the topic of "Nonviolent Communication and its use by the Project Director" will be addressed, by Alfonso Bucero.

Las Puertas de Alcalá. Símbolo de Madrid y de nuestra apertura al futuro como directores de proyecto. Siempre encontraremos puertas por donde continuar buscando la excelencia.

¡HOY ES UN BUEN DÍA, y MAÑANA SERÁ MEJOR!

TODAY IS A GOOD DAY, and TOMORROW WILL BE BETTER!
